Canadian Defends U.S. in Peking Exchange

By John Burns © The Globe and Mail, Toronto. PEKING, July 27.—Robert Stanfield, the leader of the opposition in Canada, did something yesterday that official visitors to China rarely do, at least in public: He spoke out in defense of the people and the government of the United States...

Even if the short had created hazards to make a lunar landing too risky, there never was any danger to the astronauts. They would have continued the trip to and around the moon and back to earth. The malfunction, which was discovered shortly after the command module, the Endeavour, and the lunar lander Falconer docked yesterday afternoon, was a short circuit indicated by a flickering instrument panel light...

Mr. Laird disclosed plans for the conscription cut in remarks to a youth meeting here...

Conservative Stanfield vs. Red Official

I believe that the people of the United States, and their government, really desire peace. The 78-year-old Mr. Kuo quickly agreed that Americans, like "people all over the world," want peace. But he hinted strongly that he did not think the same could be said of their government. "Those who want war are only a small minority, but they are unfortunately in power," he said...

Stans Says Foreign Challenge May Change Anti-Trust Setup

By Victor Cohn

WASHINGTON, July 27 (WP).—Drastic steps are being considered to strengthen U.S. industry competing with Japan in new "high technology" like deep-ocean platforms and vertical-takeoff aircraft, Secretary of Commerce Maurice H. Stans testified today. The government may have to start subsidizing many projects where no single industry can "go it alone," he said. Also, "it may well be necessary to set up anti-trust laws so firms can "pool funds and risks" on new developments. Mr. Stans is the latest in a small parade of officials—most recently, Federal Reserve Board chairman Arthur Burns and Treasury Secretary John B. Connally—to hint at changing the anti-trust laws. But Mr. Stans saw further steps still needed to spur technological development "as the only way we can maintain higher wages and a higher standard of living." He promised a House Science subcommittee a list of "30 different projects, major opportunities in technology in which the United States could take the lead with such government actions. Among them, he said: Vertical takeoff aircraft, ocean mining and deep-ocean platforms, air-cushion land and sea vehicles, high-speed ground transport, burnable plastics, solar power, oil from shale and tar sands, and fast-breeder nuclear reactors. He said federal action was needed to face "a situation that is already serious and growing worse." This is the unfavorable trade balance with Japan, long the case in "low technology products" (textiles, iron and steel, shoes) but now increasingly true in high technology goods. The U.S. high technology trade deficit with Japan is running at the unprecedented rate of over $2.5 billion in 1971, he reported, compared with $1.1 billion in 1970 and a $100 million surplus in 1965. Japan, Commerce Department officials explained, is selling the United States more and more cars, office machines, electronic products, ball and roller bearings and even computers. He added that on a worldwide basis growing deficits in exports of raw materials and low-technology goods and "static surpluses"—surpluses that are falling to grow year by year—in high technology may altogether cause the U.S. overall trade surplus to disappear for the first time since 1939. That surplus was $2.7 billion last year, compared with a high $7.7 billion in 1964. As to possible cures, Mr. Stans said he saw four federal options:

- Establishing a single federal "focus," possibly a new agency or division, to assess and enhance technology.
• Direct and indirect financial incentives, including grants, cost-sharing, loans and tax incentives.
• Changing anti-trust laws that now prohibit joint ventures and joint research—to "free our industries from some of the burdens under which they, but not their foreign competitors, operate."
• Encouraging voluntary or mandatory international industrial standards, instead of a situation where widely varying specifications inhibit trade.

Senate Tests Set Today on Lockheed Bill

WASHINGTON, July 27 (AP).—The Senate has agreed to vote tomorrow on a crucial amendment to federal loan-guarantee legislation. The action today ended a temporary impasse and sets up another key test of sentiment for rescuing Lockheed Aircraft Corp. The vote will be on an amendment by Sen. Adlai E. Stevenson, D., Ill., to remove favored status for Lockheed from a bill to provide up to $250 million in federal loan backing for big companies threatened with collapse. Yesterday, the Senate defeated an effort to table the measure. Administration forces have said that if the amendment passes and the bill is enacted, it would subject Lockheed to still further congressional review, delaying government help until it probably would be too late.

Majority leader Mike Mansfield, D., Mont., said yesterday's decisive defeat of closure meant "it is going to be more difficult than anticipated to get this bill passed. It looks doubtful now that we can get closure." Another attempt to shut off debate was scheduled for tomorrow. But Senate Republican leader Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania, conceded it would be "an uphill battle" to get a two-thirds majority for closure. Sen. Mansfield described the administration's effort to provide financial aid for Lockheed as "a voyage into an area where we really have no business." He said that concern about the precedents the bill would set led yesterday to victories for senators opposed to the bill.

U.S. Opposes Moratorium on Killing Whales

WASHINGTON, July 27 (AP).—The Nixon administration has spoken out against a proposed ten-year moratorium on the killing of whales. The Departments of State and Interior said yesterday they were in sympathy with the proposed resolution instructing the secretary of state to call for a ten-year international moratorium on commercially harvested whales. But they said the United States should continue its efforts to preserve whales through the international Whaling Commission, a body composed of several nations that engage in whaling and attempt to regulate the industry. Scott McVay of the Environmental Defense Fund said the moratorium would "give the whales a brief respite from the ruthless pattern of predation that has stalked them in every decade of this century." Douglas G. Chapman, chairman of the IWC's Scientific Committee, argued that the moratorium ignores the fact that some species of whales are abundant enough to withstand commercial harvest.

WASHINGTON, July 27 (AP).—Agreement has been reached on a new two-year contract for 17,000 Western Union Telegraph Co. employees, ending a 57-day nationwide strike. E. L. Hageman, president of the AFL-CIO United Telegraph Workers, said the contract, still subject to worker ratification, provides for a 19 percent boost in wages, plus benefits totaling another 4 percent. "We consider it a good contract," Mr. Hageman said last night. "The negotiating committee is recommending ratification." Fickets were called off and employees will start back to work at midnight tonight, Mr. Hageman said. Fringe Benefits In addition to the across-the-board wage increase, he said, additional increases were worked out for certain classifications of workers. Fringe-benefit improvements, which the company said were worth 2 percent, but Mr. Hageman maintained were worth 4 percent, are in hospitalization, daily expense allowances, group life insurance and vehicle allowances for auto messengers. Severance pay would increase 50 percent for employees displaced because of work or office relocation.

$58.5 Million Refund Of SST Funds Planned

WASHINGTON, July 27 (AP).—Senate-House conferees agreed yesterday on a $58.5 million appropriation to reimburse airlines for their contribution to a program, since discontinued by the government, to develop a super-sonic transport plane. The agreement now goes to the House and Senate for final action.

SANTA ANA, Calif., July 27 (UPI).—Mrs. Doris J. Burnell is suing another woman for $1.5 million for depriving her of a husband. The other woman is her husband. Mrs. Burnell brought suit against Maurice Burnell in Orange County Superior Court for changing his sex from male to female over her objections. She named as co-defendant a Hollywood physician, Dr. Roy J. Catasone, who she said performed the operation, although she "counseled, urged, advised and cajoled" her husband and the doctor against it. She also filed for a divorce. "I have no Lesbian tendencies, so he now revolts me," her lawyer, Robert Tuller, quoted her as saying. The Burnells were married in 1964, and though they had no children of their own, raised Mr. Burnell's two daughters by his previous marriage, who are now in their late teens, Mr. Tuller said. Mrs. Burnell said her husband's desire to become a woman developed in "a very short period of time" and that his sudden development "surprised her—to put it mildly." Mr. Tuller said Mrs. Burnell said in her suit that the sex change caused her to become "ill, excited and so nervous" she suffered a collapse. The Burnells are in their late 40s, Mr. Tuller said. Mrs. Burnell separated from her husband as soon as he had his sex changed in July of last year, the lawyer said. The suit was filed last week. She is asking the $1.5 million in damages for the loss of her husband and marital status, on the grounds of "intentional interference with a contract and intentional infliction of mental suffering," Mr. Tuller said.

17,000 Back on the Job One Telegraph Union Ends Strike With Two-Year Pact

WASHINGTON, July 27 (AP).—Agreement has been reached on a new two-year contract for 17,000 Western Union Telegraph Co. employees, ending a 57-day nationwide strike. E. L. Hageman, president of the AFL-CIO United Telegraph Workers, said the contract, still subject to worker ratification, provides for a 19 percent boost in wages, plus benefits totaling another 4 percent. "We consider it a good contract," Mr. Hageman said last night. "The negotiating committee is recommending ratification." WASHINGTON, July 27 (AP).—Secretary of Labor J.D. Hodgson asked the United Transportation Union and the railroad industry today to submit their nationwide dispute and the strike involving four railroads to a neutral panel for settlement. Mr. Hodgson requested a reply from both sides by tomorrow morning. His request came as President Nixon was urged by the soft-coal industry to take "immediate government action" to halt the strike. But White House press secretary Ron Ziegler said "there are no plans at this time" to propose legislation that would end the walkout.

Senate Panel Gets Names Of Mobsters

WASHINGTON, July 27 (AP).—The self-described grandson of a Cosa Nostra figure, breaking the traditional silence of organized crime in a flood of words, gave senators today names of men he said are kingpins in illegal gambling, loan sharking and trafficking in stolen credit cards and securities. Vincent C. Teresa, 43, chuckled as he said he once kept a man-eating piranha in a fishbowl to convince his Boston gambling customers he ran a tough outfit. Now serving a five-year prison sentence for interstate transportation of stolen securities, the fat and jovial Teresa sketched the framework of an international gambling and criminal empire for members of the Senate Investigations subcommittee. Papa Doc's Promise He said he was once promised by Franjo (Papa Doc) Duvalier, the late president of Haiti, that his associates "could get a gambling license anytime he wanted." In turn, he said, "I gave Papa Doc a Cadillac." There was nothing in his testimony to show that Teresa ever set up gambling operations in Haiti. Teresa, who said he first got into trouble with the law in the seventh grade, said Meyer Lansky owns part of the George Raft gambling casino in London and remains the No. 1 figure in international criminal gambling. And he suggested that the late Joe Valachi, who told his own story of the underworld before the same subcommittee a decade ago, may not have been correct in every detail. He agreed the word "Mafia" is not used much anymore, but added: "I never heard the term 'Cosa Nostra' until Joe Valachi used it." "But there is one big gang that runs organized crime in this country," Teresa said. "We generally call it 'the Mob.'" "New young people who become members call it 'the Outfit.'" In Providence, R.I., which is headquarters for New England, they call it "the Office." It has many different names—the "Organization," the "Syndicate," a number of others.

Fulbright Wants His Panel To Pass on State Dept. Funds

WASHINGTON, July 27 (NYT).—Sen. J. William Fulbright said yesterday that he would propose that the State Department be required to obtain an annual legislative authorization for its appropriations and that it be passed upon by the Senate Foreign Relations and House Foreign Affairs Committees. The aim would be to make the department more responsive to the committee. The Arkansas Democrat is chairman of the Senate committee. The budget requests of the State Department and of the U.S. Information Agency now go directly to the House and Senate Appropriations Committees. These panels could be expected to resist any intrusion into their domain. Plans an Amendment Sen. Fulbright said in an interview that he intended to offer his proposal as an amendment to the foreign aid authorization bill, which his committee is to start considering later this week. At present, the legislative jurisdiction of the Senate committee and the House Foreign Affairs Committee is limited largely to the annual aid authorizations. Sen. Fulbright described his proposal as a "response to the outrageous refusal of the State Department on many occasions to supply legitimate information to the committee." In a broader sense, he said, the proposal represents "another step in redressing the balance of power between the executive branch and Congress in the field of foreign policy." Full Information The amendment would also require that the secretary of state keep the Senate and House committees "fully and currently informed" on all departmental activities. The phrase was taken from the law requiring the Atomic Energy Commission to keep the Joint Congressional Committee on Atomic Energy so informed. Sen. Fulbright also said he expected his committee to report favorably on legislation imposing restrictions on the warming powers of the President.

Angela Davis Enters Plea Of Not Guilty

SAN RAFAEL, Calif., July 27 (AP).—Black militant Angela Davis formally pleaded not guilty today to murder, kidnap and conspiracy charges. The judge set her trial to begin in 90 days. "I plead not guilty," said Miss Davis, her arms folded as she stood before Superior Court Judge Richard E. Aronson. "Just before the plea, the judge handed Miss Davis a legal victory by granting her permission to have the powers of a defense attorney in her own trial. Judge Aronson said this was rarely granted but he felt "the cause of justice will be served." He said the court may revoke the privilege if it appears she abuses it. Miss Davis, 27, is charged in connection with the Aug. 7, 1970, Marin County courthouse gun-battle in which a judge and three others were slain. She is not accused of being present, but of furnishing guns used in an abortive escape attempt and helping plot the crime.

Despite Gains in '60s, Blacks In the U.S. Still Trail Whites

WASHINGTON, July 27 (NYT).—Following a decade of substantial gains, black people in America still remain far behind whites in most social and economic areas, according to a government report issued yesterday.

Some of the most significant findings of the 156-page statistical study by the Census Bureau and the Bureau of Labor Statistics were in the areas of family structure, income and education.

The proportion of black families headed by women, believed by many authorities to be an important index of social deterioration, increased significantly last year, while the percentage of fatherless white families remained constant.

Kennedy Says U.S. Has Failed To Curb Drugs

WASHINGTON, July 27 (AP).—Sen. Edward M. Kennedy said today that the Nixon administration has failed to curb drug traffic.

Sen. Kennedy, D. Mass., said in a statement at a Senate hearing that "our national leaders, through gimmickry and press agency" are trying to make Americans believe the nation is solving the drug problem.

"Despite at least a decade of searching, we have not really begun to ask ourselves the hard questions. Have we been taking a Band-Aid approach to a disease of epidemic proportions?" he asked.

He questioned whether administration requests for more money and manpower in narcotics programs are "merely bigger and more expensive Band-Aids."

Heroin processing plants in France are estimated to be the source of 85 percent of the narcotics sold in the United States, he asserted, "despite the fact that France is a close ally and that everyone knows where the factories are."

Agnew Ends World Tour By Teeing Off

Golfs in Portugal Before Flight Home

LISBON, July 27 (AP).—Vice-President Agnew wound up his 31-day global tour today—the same way he began it, by playing a round of golf.

Accompanied by retired singer Frank Sinatra and two others, Mr. Agnew drove to the resort of Estoril for a morning round before attending a luncheon given by Premier Marcello Caetano.

In the evening, Mr. Agnew was the host at an embassy dinner for Portuguese and Americans—including Mr. Sinatra, who is here on an extended European vacation following his retirement last month from show business.

Exactly four weeks ago, a day after his departure from California, Mr. Agnew played golf on the Western Pacific island of Guam before going to Korea, the first stop on the 11-nation tour.

Including that round and today's, Mr. Agnew has played 13 times in six nations, often with top leaders of the countries he was visiting.

Mr. Agnew will fly home tomorrow after the longest of his three foreign trips and the longest by a U.S. president or vice-president since one by Richard M. Nixon, as Vice-President, in 1953.

Mr. Agnew will report to President Nixon later this week on the results of his meetings with foreign leaders.

Romania Resists Integration Comecon Summit Convened in Bucharest

VIENNA, July 27 (UPI).—The premiers of Comecon, the Communist common market, met in Bucharest today with the battle lines drawn between independent-minded Romania and the integrationist forces of the Soviet bloc.

Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin led government officials of Russia, Poland, Hungary, Czechoslovakia and Bulgaria to Romania for the meeting, which is expected to last three days.

Economic sources in Bucharest said Romania and its allies plan to press Romanian President Nicolae Ceausescu to integrate his economy more closely into the rest of Eastern Europe.

"as extensive as possible economic integration," But Mr. Ceausescu, in a speech last week, had warned that while economic "cooperation" is fine, "it must not lead in any way to the transgression of national sovereignty."

Romania, while maintaining its relatively independent foreign policy, has recently cooperated more closely with the other Comecon nations than it had in the last few years. This cooperation has included joining several Comecon institutions and striking mutual development deals with the Soviet Union.

The sources said this trend reflects Romania's growing internal economic problems, its shortage of hard Western currency and its need to look eastward for raw materials.

The fact that the current meeting is held in Romania is accidental, Comecon summit meetings rotate from capital to capital, and it was Romania's turn to host.

Soviet Ban Holds On Rostropovich

LUCERNE, Switzerland, July 27 (AP).—Soviet cellist Mstislav Rostropovich, in official disgrace since he voiced support of Nobel prize-winning novelist Alexander Solzhenitsyn, has been prevented by Soviet authorities from playing at the Lucerne International Music Festival next month.

The Swiss organizers said today that the Soviet state agency Gosconcert advised them by telegram that his appearance at Lucerne was "not planned."

Earlier, the Salzburg, Austria, festival received a similar note.

Channel Ferries Cut In Two-Day Strike

DOVER, England, July 27 (AP).—A two-day strike involving officers on French railways' cross-Channel ferries began today, forcing cancellation of 13 scheduled sailings from England to France and threatening further disruption tomorrow.

The labor dispute affected the Dover-Calais and the Newhaven-Dieppe routes.

Obituaries Sarah Yakir, Wife of General Executed During Stalin Era

MOSCOW, July 27 (UPI).—Sarah Yakir, the widow of Gen. Yonas Yakir, a civil war hero who was executed in the Stalin era, has died and was given an official funeral today, medical sources said. She had suffered from a heart ailment.

Mrs. Yakir is survived by her son, Yoel, one of the most active leaders of the small underground dissident movement here.

The son's quarrel with the authorities did not seem to have affected his mother's standing with them.

Gen. Yakir was one of a group of top Soviet commanders who, together with Marshal Mikhail Tukhachevsky, was shot in 1937 for "treason."

According to Churchill's memoirs, the Nazis had planted false evidence in Olga Chokova's bag against Tukhachevsky which Czech President Eduard Benes turned over to Stalin.

General Purga Stalin ordered a summary trial and execution of Tukhachevsky, the author, and for Mr. Capote's 1965 extravaganza, "The masked ball held at the Plaza Hotel."

All of the victims were declared innocent after Stalin's death and rehabilitated posthumously.

Mrs. Yakir, a member of the Communist party herself, and her children were also arrested and exiled as was the custom of the time. They were released after Stalin's death.

The honor in which Yakir's memory is still held was indicated at today's funeral, which was arranged by the Ministry of Defense. The burial was held at the Gornostayevskiy cemetery, which once belonged to the large pre-revolutionary German colony.

S. Korean Floods Kill 64, 44 Hurt, 12 Die on Taiwan

SEOUL, July 27 (Reuters).—Floods caused by thunderstorms and torrential downpours have killed 64 persons and injured 44 in central and southwestern Korea in the last two days, the Government Relief Committee reported.

The committee said that five persons were missing and more than 3,000 were homeless.

The disaster followed storms around Seoul a week ago in which at least 45 persons died.

Typhoon Toli TAIPEI, July 27 (Reuters).—The death toll from Typhoon Nadine, which tore across Taiwan with winds of up to 120 miles an hour, rose to 12 today, the Central News Agency reported that 13 persons were missing and 56 injured, 24 of them seriously.

Blind Man Gets Pardon in Italy, Holdup 'Lookout'

ROME, July 27 (AP).—President Giuseppe Saragat has pardoned Atanasio Pedone, a Sicilian blind man who is serving a 17-year prison sentence for acting as the lookout in a holdup that resulted in a killing.

The pardon was signed yesterday. The blind Sicilian will be released from prison later this week.

Pedone was accused of acting as lookout outside a Palermo shoe repair shop in 1953 for bandits who killed the shopowner in a robbery.

A Palermo court found Pedone not guilty for lack of sufficient evidence. The judge expressed doubts that the gang had used a blind man as lookout. The court of appeals reviewed the case, however, and found Pedone guilty.

2 More Quakes In New Britain

PORT MORESBY, New Guinea, July 27 (UPI).—Two earthquakes rocked New Britain today in the wake of a massive quake Monday which caused a tidal wave and wrecked at least one village. They were the fourth and fifth earthquakes to hit the southwest Pacific island in two weeks.

Australian Navy ships were on standby alert off New Britain, whose main town of Rabaul was hardest hit by Monday's quake, which registered 6.3 on the Richter scale.

Officials said the two quakes today registered 6.5 on the Richter scale and hit the Kimbe area on the west coast of New Britain.

Emergency supplies were flown to Kimbe after two weeks ago severe earthquakes demolished 11 houses and caused thousands of dollars damage. An unconfirmed report from the Kimbe area said a nearby volcano had begun to emit smoke.

Officials said European families prepared to leave New Britain for Australia after they have been no official casualty reports.

U.S. Denies Bid To Franco To Quit

WASHINGTON, July 27 (Reuters).—The State Department today denied a report that U.S. officials have been conducting a campaign to encourage Generalissimo Francisco Franco to step down and name Prince Juan Carlos as chief of state and king of Spain in the near future.

"As far as we are concerned, the story is purely speculative and has no foundation in fact," commented department spokesman Charles Bray when asked about the Madrid report in The Washington Post.

The story appeared in the International Herald Tribune July 21.

The article said the administration approach has been in a low key, although President Nixon brought the issue up when he met Gen. Franco in Madrid last autumn.

U.S. Approves the Import of Natural Gas From Algeria

By David Ottaway

WASHINGTON, July 27 (WP).—The Nixon administration has given its approval to a huge contract for the importation of the first methane gas into the United States after acting less than six weeks ago to hold up the deal.

The White House's action clears the way for the conclusion of a 35-year agreement between the El Paso Natural Gas Co. and the Algerian government for the shipment of vast quantities of Sahara natural gas to American markets.

The contract with the Algerian major French companies affected, the Compagnie Française des Pétroles, has reached an agreement with the Algerian government for compensation of its nationalized interests.

This appears to have been a factor in the White House's recent decision to approve the El Paso project.

The State Department forwarded its letter of approval to the Federal Power Commission on July 14 and the Defense Department gave approval last Thursday.

The contract has been before the commission for hearings for over a year. It is now in the process of reviewing briefs for and against the project and is not expected to announce its decision before mid-September.

The El Paso contract involves the shipment of 365 billion cubic feet of gas annually to the East Coast of the United States in specially designed methane tankers. The first deliveries are scheduled to begin in late 1975.

The project calls for a total investment of around $1 billion, with El Paso spending $450 million to build a fleet of methane tankers.

Matador Dies of Goring

MADRID, July 27 (UPT).—Matador Jose Mata, 31, severely gored in a bullfight Sunday, died today, doctors said. A bull in Villanueva had ripped open his right thigh and loin, rupturing the femoral artery.

He was rushed by ambulance 150 miles from the small town to Madrid, where he underwent two operations Sunday night. Doctors said gangrene had set in during the three-hour drive to Madrid.

"The only hope of saving his life was to amputate his right leg," Dr. Maximo Garcia de la Torre, who operated on Mata, said. "He was too weak, however, to undergo the operation."

Mata suffered five heart failures before dying, doctors said. The last full-fledged matador to die from a goring was Manuel Rodriguez (Manolete), fatally wounded in the ring at Linares in 1947.

Pakistanis, Indians Trade Fire Again

11 Civilians Killed In 2 Days of Clashes

CALCUTTA, July 27 (AP).—Indian and Pakistani security forces clashed today for the second consecutive day in a fresh flareup along the East Pakistani border, Indian press reports said.

At least 11 persons, all civilians, were killed during the last 24 hours, according to the Indians. The reports said Sonamura village, in India's Tripura State, about 300 miles northeast of here, was evacuated after three persons were killed and several others wounded during a Pakistani heavy artillery attack.

Hussein Returns Home

AMMAN, July 27 (AP).—King Hussein returned to Jordan tonight after a three-day official visit to Saudi Arabia, where he conferred with King Faisal on current Middle East questions.

Fire Returned

Members of the paramilitary Indian Border Security Force returned the fire, the reports added.

[In Agartala, the capital of Tripura, the territory's government described as false and misleading a Radio Pakistan report that the police station in the East Pakistani town of Comilla, six miles from Sonamura, was shelled recently from the Indian side of the border, Reuters reported.]

Other reports reaching Calcutta said Indian and Pakistani forces exchanged fire for three hours last night along the Cachar District of India's Assam State, to the north of Tripura.

Eight persons, including three women, were killed by Pakistani mortar fire in the Sutarandi area of Cachar District, the reports said.

Previously, there had been sporadic clashes in areas where members of the East Pakistani independence forces, known as the Mukti Fauj, have been active.

Unparalleled Catastrophe

NEW DELHI, July 27 (Reuters).—The East Pakistani refugee problem has no parallel in human history, Col. M.D. Eria, of the Geneva League of Red Cross Societies, said here today.

"I have seen many catastrophes but none like this," he told a press conference.

About two million children—among the seven million refugees—were suffering from malnutrition and prompt and effective measures had to be taken to deal with the problem, Col. Eria said.

U.K. Pledges to Keep Troops In Ulster Until IRA Is Beaten

BELFAST, July 27 (AP).—Britain pledged today to keep its troops in Northern Ireland until the outlawed Irish Republican Army is crushed.

"There is now an open war between the IRA and security forces," British Home Secretary Reginald Maudling said in an interview. "Quite clearly no British government can allow the IRA to win."

"As in every campaign there will be setbacks—but in the end, defeat of the IRA is inevitable."

Mr. Maudling's interview was published in the Belfast Telegraph newspaper shortly after British troops again raided suspected IRA hideouts in Belfast, netting weapons and documents.

Mr. Maudling denied he personally backed mass internment without trial as a means of bringing extremist republican elements under control. The republicans are trying to oust the British from this province and unite Northern Ireland with the independent Irish Republic in the south.

"I dislike intensely the idea of imprisonment without trial," said Mr. Maudling, who holds ultimate responsibility for law and order in Northern Ireland.

"But I dislike even more murder and terrorism. The decision to intern lies with the Northern Ireland government."

"Army Will Remain" Mr. Maudling added: "There can be no question at all of withdrawing the British Army from Northern Ireland. The army will remain as long as necessary."

There are 11,000 British soldiers in the province, charged with holding a peace line between warring Catholic republicans and Protestant loyalists.

Meanwhile, a cryptic advertisement in a newspaper in Bristol, a southwest England port, attracted Scotland Yard attention today.

It said: "Mercen. Op. NW Europe (Bristol 300)." Detectives interpreted the "300" as possibly meaning mercenaries ready to operate within a 300-mile radius of Bristol—a sweep which would take in Belfast.

Police Raids in Dublin DUBLIN, July 27 (AP).—Irish Republic detectives today carried out the biggest search in recent years for illicit explosives and incendiary devices.

More than 150 policemen fanned out through Dublin at dawn, converging on homes of known IRA men and sympathizers.

Police would give no details of the three-hour operation, but unofficial sources said no weapons were found.

Protests from republican factions were immediate and furious.

"We are only trying to help our people in the north and this is stabbing us in the back down here," said one member of the militant "Provisional" wing of the IRA.

Man Dies at 111 in U.S. PORT ARTHUR, Texas, July 27 (AP).—Pierre Lartigue, who died Saturday at the age of 111 and left 173 survivors, will be buried today in Mermentau, La. Social Security records showed that Mr. Lartigue, a former sharecropper, fisherman and railroad worker, was born in Landry's Parish, La., on May 31, 1860.

WATER TOWER—Some 30 years ago a dam was constructed near the Russian city of Uglich, on the Volga. A large part of the city was thus destroyed and the area became a huge water reservoir. The tower of the town church, however, is still visible and dominates the entire area like a lonely lighthouse.

Freudians Warned to Adjust Theories to Social Problems

By Alden Whitman

VIENNA, July 27 (NYT).—Freudians were warned here today that "all our theories are going to be carried away by history" unless psychoanalysis is applied to social problems.

The warning was delivered to the 27th Congress of the International Psychoanalytic Association, meeting in the former Imperial Palace, at a time when Dr. Alexander Mitscherlich, head of the Sigmund Freud Institute of Frankfurt, and it evoked a burst of applause from younger congress participants as some of their elders sat by in stony silence.

Dr. Mitscherlich's suggestion that destructive aggressive behavior is provoked by social factors—rather than by current Freudian orthodoxy, which holds that aggression derives from internal psychic sources that are instinctual.

Dr. Mitscherlich's paper, "Psychoanalysis and the Aggression of Large Groups," went to the core of the issues dividing Freudians today. The orthodox appear convinced that a single psychoanalytic theory should be able to do justice to the whole range of aggressive feelings, fantasies and behavior.

Revisionists, on the other hand, want at the very least to exchange observational findings about aggression with other behavioral scientists.

Sims Orthodoxy According to the amnesia inherent in orthodox Freudianism, Dr. Mitscherlich told his colleagues today.

"I fear that nobody is going to take us very seriously if we continue to suggest that war comes about because fathers hate their sons and want to kill them, that was Hitler. We must, instead, aim at finding a theory that explains group behavior, a theory that traces this behavior to the conflicts in society that actuate individual drives."

Dr. Mitscherlich's appeal to Freudians to recognize the present limitations of psychoanalytic theory and to call on sociologists and others for help accords with the feelings of many younger analysts here.

Freud and Marx Some of this temper was also expressed today in the warm reception given to Dr. Marie Langer, of Buenos Aires. Speaking to 300 analysts, most of them in their 30s, Dr. Langer was cheered when she said, "For many of us it is already clear that psychoanalysis, Marxism and social revolution are not mutually exclusive."

Freudianism and Marxism, she said.

Pan Am to Limit Safari Flights

NEW YORK, July 27 (UPI).—Pan American World Airways announced today that as of Aug. 31, it will book no further tours which involve the killing of endangered species of animals.

The airline is the first major travel organization to announce such a ban.

Pan Am will continue to book photo safaris and tours for hunters and fishermen in search of wildlife types that are not in danger of extinction, in areas where such expeditions are permitted by local law.

The World Wildlife Fund, an international non-profit organization, has listed more than 900 endangered species, ranging alphabetically from alligators to tigers.

Space Shuttle Model Ends Its Flight Tests

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif., July 27 (AP).—The X-24A, an experimental wingless lifting body that has been flown at 1,048 miles per hour and as high as 71,000 feet, has completed its flight-test program, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration has announced.

The X-24 series, deriving aerodynamic lift from body shape alone, is being used to test ideas leading to a space shuttle that would soar into orbit, then land like a conventional airplane.

Cardin—Broad Shoulders Or Slim and Supple Line

PARIS, July 27.—Pierre Cardin's models are wearing brassieres in the spotlights that played on the black vinyl runway down the center of Cardin's Espace Center, they were plainly visible. Not that the girls didn't wear them for most of the show...

At the Miko. At the start of the show, Pierre Cardin came to the microphone and in his mile-a-minute French, explained his two fall shapes, the slim and supple, and the broad-shouldered. For the next hour and a quarter, his ideas spilled out on the runway like rain from a gutter.

His sports clothes are spectacular. He likes tweedy ponchos that stop above the waist in front and usually with deep fringe, fall almost to the knees behind. Many of them are worn over pants that are narrower than most of those new European collections.

Naturally, they weren't quite Chanel. Berthelot made a big mistake when he widened the shoulders of some of the suit jackets. The essence of Chanel was the narrow shoulder and high little armhole from which the fabric had a sexy way of falling.

Elegance With a Béarnais Flavor in the Paris Area

SAINTE-GERMAIN-EN-LAYE, France (UPI)—In 1928, Jean-Baptiste Cazauheore set up a little refreshment stand next to the Saint-Germain-en-Laye stadium, 21 kilometers north of Paris. Today, his son Pierre and Pierre's wife Christine run an elegant restaurant surrounded by a large garden, where meals are served when the weather permits.

Naturally there are sausages and foie gras from the Landes. At this time of year, a light pig-pie made of sautéed tomatoes, peppers and Bayonne ham with which eggs are scrambled, is very nice.

Much lighter and very tasty indeed are chétopons (squid) à la daquoise, that is, cut up and prepared with their own ink, or with a sauce américaine. Both versions are served with excellent rice.

The preparation of good confit must be done in the fall when the birds are slaughtered for their foie gras. They are cut into four, left heavily salted and peppered for two days, then wiped off, rubbed with garlic and cooked in goose grease with more garlic, cloves and a bouquet garni for an hour and a half.

There are a few other regional dishes such as confit de porc, Béarnais sausages and tripe and Basque chicken. With all of them, your best bet is a regional wine, especially the Madiran, a rough red with a fine bouquet that can be served cool. There is also white Tursan and a good rosé called Caout Sourehi (not

The Swiss obsession with punctuality: It finally produced the Eterna Sonic. At Eterna we've been obsessed with punctuality for over 100 years. Finally, we decided that we should not merely concentrate our efforts on improving the conventional watch. So we turned to electronics. The electronic watch uses an incredibly accurate tuning fork mechanism. Which you don't need to wind up. And which hums instead of ticks. Before we came along it was the most accurate wristwatch you could buy. But we went even further. We added what we call a 'flexion oscillator', which makes sure the tuning fork vibrates with exactly the same frequency, no matter its position on your wrist. Which makes it that much more accurate. Our Eterna Sonic will keep the same accurate time day in day out: less than 2 seconds variance a day.

BRIDGE

By Alan Truscott

The diagramed deal, played in the summer nationals of the American Contract Bridge League...

When the hand was first played, East and West reached four spades after North had opened the bidding with one diamond and East had overcalled one spade.

If South had his partner's diamond suit the declarer would have made four spades by ruffing three times in the dummy and establishing a diamond trick for a heart discard.

West made the best lead of a spade, and South won with dummy's king and led a heart. It would not have helped East to put up his ace and be ducked.

East won with the club ace and established his spades, driving out South's ace. The earlier appearance of West's ten was a boon to South, who was now able to lead to dummy's club king and finesse against East's nine to make sure of seven tricks.

North-South were therefore headed for a score of 90, and a stand-off on the deal in terms of international match points. But something odd happened. When South eventually cashed the diamond ace, East absent-mindedly discarded one of his winning spades and kept a losing heart trick at the end for an overtrick and a gain of one trivial international match point.

The one point seemed less trivial when the teams compared scores and found that the Winter team had won by exactly one point, a result that gave the Canadian East a sleepless night. The price of victory is eternal vigilance.

A man may stand there and put all America behind him. Thoreau wrote more than a century ago after ending a visit to Provincetown on Cape Cod. And he had the canny foresight to add, "The time must come when this coast will be a place of resort for those New Englanders who really wish to visit the seaside."

Or, Herbert Kenny would be quick to admit, Route 127 to Rockport, Mr. Kenny's focus, though, is not on the transient traffic, but on the whole meaning of Cape Ann. (As far as he is concerned Cape Ann is the cape in Massachusetts.) As he puts it so eloquently, "New England is the authentic version of America, and Cape Ann is the authentic version of New England."

States to acquire Chi-Chi, which has become an international celebrity in the London Zoo. At the time, some zoos were offering up to $55,000 for the white-faced animal...

Set Temperature For Music Halls In Europe Asked

PARIS, July 27 (Reuters)—European concert halls will be air-conditioned at a temperature of 20 degrees centigrade (68 Fahrenheit) if the Council of Europe and a group of musical experts have their way.

We think the animal should be part of a cultural exchange and on a scientific basis, rather than on how much money can be spent, said Mr. Combar. "Otherwise you might wind up with some wealthy faddist buying a panda for a backyard pet."

BRONX PRAIRIE—Eleven American bison have moved into a new three-acre "prairie" at the Bronx Zoo.

BRONX PRAIRIE—Eleven American bison have moved into a new three-acre "prairie" at the Bronx Zoo. Their new home was created over a three-year period by filling in what was once the zoo's Lake Agassiz.

The Swiss Haven for Tibetan Refugees

By Joe Alex Morris Jr. RIKON, Switzerland—At the end of a narrow road winding up through pine forests stands a Tibetan monastery, the focal point of a remarkable Swiss experiment.

short of labor, and the Tibetans quickly realized there were better opportunities in the lower valleys. Now, there are small communities of Tibetans spread all over German-speaking Switzerland.

One of the newcomers, a 54-year-old farmer, named Dorje said: "We are happy here, but we want to return some day to India. It is our second homeland, and we want to be with the Dalai Lama."

Nicolette Mines-Walker, 38, the first woman to solo-sail the Atlantic, did it in a 30-foot sloop crammed with radar, a radio receiver and transmitter, other electronic gadgetry...

PEOPLE: Man Suing Jackie In Alleged Beating

An Athens lawyer said his photographer client is suing Mrs. Aristotle Onassis for $66,000 because, he said, she ordered her bodyguards to beat him up. The incident happened last Tuesday on the Onassis-owned isle of Skorpios, where the former Mrs. John F. Kennedy and her husband are spending the summer...

Tree surgeon Alf Gurnham of Ipswich, England, climbed up a pine tree 50 ft high Friday to rescue his 50th cat from a rooftop Monday. Reflecting later on his career as a cat rescuer, Gurnham said: "No cat has ever scratched me; perhaps they like me—but I don't like them. I'm a dog man myself. A dog would never be silly enough to get stuck up a tree."
